

Subject: <RefXXXXXXXX> Message envoyé par Jacob Sammon
From: <support@afnic.fr>
Date: 12/01/2021, 10:49
To: jacob@eml.pm

Hello,

In summary, if a registrant located on the UK territory wishes to register a domain name in .pm today, they will be unable to do so, as they will not meet the eligibility criterias of Afnic's naming policy.

However, if a current holder registered their domain name under .pm prior to december 31st 2020, they will be able to renew their domain name, as usual.

As of today, we do not have more information on what would happen to a .pm domain name registered by UK holders prior to december 31st and scheduled to expire in 2022.

Should this change, know that our services will communicate to registrars this information as soon as a decision is made. Please keep in mind that holders will be given sufficient time to comply with changes (if any).

Best regards,

Rubis A.

-----
So, in summary, I'll be able to keep my domain until to expires but will not, as a Briton, be able to renew my domain?

Best regards,
Jacob Sammon

> On 5 Jan 2021, at 17:01, support@afnic.fr wrote:

>

> Hello M. Sammon,

>

> Thank you for contacting Afnic.

>

> The applicable principle is the following: non-retroactivity of laws will continue to apply to all domain names already registered under .pm . This means that any registrant of a .pm domain name located on the UK territory will not loose its domain name if the domain has been registered before 31 december 2020.

>

> After this date, UK residants will non longer be eligible to .pm domains unless some specific treaty stating otherwise is executed between the EU and the UK.

>

> Should this change, and regarding your query on "eml.pm" renewal in 2022, know that our services will communicate to registrars more information as soon as the decision is made. Please keep in mind that holders will be given sufficient time to comply with changes (if any).

>

> Best regards,

>

> Rubis A.

>

>

> -----

> Renewal of Domains for Britons :

> Dear AFNIC,

>

> I recently registered eml.pm shortly before the end of the UK-EU transition period.

>

> I am extremely happy that I've seen that my domain will be absolutely fine in terms of keeping it since December 31 2020.

>

> I am wondering if I will still be able to renew this domain with my UK details?

>

> All the best and a happy new year,

> Jacob Sammon

>